Subject: Make the sensible choice! Pull the Nestlé permit today.

Dear ODFW Commissioners -

I am asking you to take action today on an urgent issue: a permitting process that would allow Nestlé to bottle water from the Oxbow Springs in Cascade Locks. This is especially timely because ODFW is about to enter into legal proceedings on a water forfeiture claim related to this issue. Once ODFW enters into these legal proceedings, it will initiate an unnecessary financial burden for the agency. I do not believe that taxpayer dollars should be spent to facilitate a proposal that would give away public water and could ultimately put the water supply for ODFW's Oxbow Hatchery at risk.

Now is the perfect time for the ODFW to take the sensible route and pull Water Exchange Application T-11109. As an appointed Commissioner of the ODFW, you can help Director Elicker make the decision to pull this permit before costly legal proceedings begin. Please contact Director Elicker and tell him it is in the best interest of the Oxbow Hatchery and ODFW to pull T-11109 today.

Thank you,

Meredith Cocks

How many Oregon voters have contacted you thanking you for, or encouraging you to proceed with your support for Nestle's proposed bottling plant in the Gorge? If I'm wrong, and the answer to that is "countless hordes", then I must congratulate you for seeing past my shortsightedness. I suspect, however, that the answer to that question approximates zero. In that case I must beg you to remember who you work for.

Dear Director Elicker,

Please take the sensible route re. a corporate attempt at grabbing the public's precious resource, namely, WATER.

PULL T-11109 TODAY PLEASE

Let's have the corporate world understand that more grabbing of our natural rights IS NOT OK. Look at what is happening all over the world. Corporate control of our lives is on the way out. Let your action today reflect this trend.

Enough is enough!!!

Dear ODFW Commissioners -

Putting a Nestle bottling plant in the gorge is a bad idea, bad for the state, bad for the beautiful Columbia River Gorge, and bad for the economy in an area supported heavily by tourism dollars. Please make the smart choice and kill this project before it costs us all more time, money, and pain. I am asking you to please pull Water Exchange Application T-11109.

I am asking you to take action today on an urgent issue: a permitting process that would allow Nestlé to bottle water from the Oxbow Springs in Cascade Locks. This is especially timely because ODFW is about to enter into legal proceedings on a water forfeiture claim related to this issue. Once ODFW enters into these legal proceedings, it will initiate an unnecessary financial burden for the agency. I do not believe that taxpayer dollars should be spent to facilitate a proposal that would give away public water and could ultimately put the water supply for ODFW's Oxbow Hatchery at risk.

Now is the perfect time for the ODFW to take the sensible route and pull Water Exchange Application T-11109. As an appointed Commissioner of the ODFW, you can help Director Elicker make the decision to pull this permit before costly legal proceedings begin. Please contact Director Elicker and tell him it is in the best interest of the Oxbow Hatchery and ODFW to pull T-11109 today.

Thank you,

Please contact Director Elicker and tell him it is in the best interest of the Oxbow Hatchery, ODFW, and all fiscally responsible citizens of Oregon to pull the T-11109 application today.

As an appointed Commissioner of the ODFW, you can help Director Elicker make the decision to pull this permit before very costly and time-consuming legal proceedings begin. As a concerned citizen I do not want to see our taxpayer dollars and our appointed/elected officials time being squandered on supporting a corporate give-away that has very little, if any, long-term value to even a small percentage of Oregon's citizenry.

Dear Oregon Department of Fish and Wildlife Commissioners:

I strenuously object to the use of tax resources to facilitate a proposal that would give away public water and that allows environmental risks to increase in the process.

Putting the water supply for ODFW's Oxbow Hatchery at risk is not acceptable for an agency charged with protecting public resources.

Please act to pull Water Exchange Application T-11109.

You can urge Director Elicker to pull this permit before a costly legal proceeding begins.

Please contact Director Elicker concerning a duty to protect the Oxbow Hatchery by ending the T-11109 process today.

Thank you for your attention to this matter, I consider this urgent to protect harm to fish and to stop wasting of public assets and of government credibility.

Dear ODFW Commissioners -

Water is the next oil. It is scarce elsewhere. Oregon should not be giving a permit to a non-Oregon, non-US company to essentially mine US water for pennies on the dollar returned to Oregon workers, communities and tax base. If anyone should profit from this it is Oregonians.

Real economic development - owned and run by Oregonians and citizens of Cascade Locks is possible. The Nestle plant is economic colonization - not development. Cascade Locks can do better.

I think giving away out public water resources to a corporation that will add to the world's trash and pllution by putting it in plastic bottles is crazy. Dear ODFW Commissioners -

Do not permit Nestle to bottle water from the Oxbow Springs in Cascade Locks! We don't need to be giving away our pure water so that an international conglomerate can make even more money! Oregon water is for Oregon people, farms and wildlife!

Beyond that obvious truth, there is the issue that more throw away plastic water bottles is a bad thing. More petroleum used to make the throwaway bottles is a bad thing. And more petroleum used to transport the unnecessary product to market is a bad thing.

Taxpayer dollars should not be spent on a proposal that would give away public water and might even put the water supply for ODFW's Oxbow Hatchery at risk.

Pull the permit NOW.

Water should not be a commodity. It is sacred. It is the source of life as we know it. Without it, we die. No corporation should own or otherwise control it. If you allow Nestle to bottle and sell our water, you will be making the wrong choice for Oregon and her people. I plead with you not to allow this to happen.

Dear ODFW Commissioners -

Myself, children, and our community locally and globally beseech you to please pull Water Exchange Application T-11109. Dear ODFW Commissioners -

I beg you to say no. Have you seen Nestle's track record with townships and cities they enter? Their history is enough reason to be very wary of having them in the PNW, their back tracking, their 'real' job creation being half of what they state. They are not within the PNW for a reason. We do not agree with how they treat town, people or our valuable resource. Please see the town of Fryeburg, Maine as a reference. Please see their rejection in Enumclaw, Wa and their reasons to protect our resources.

If they are allowed to enter, they will exploit the town, their people and the water they extract. In Fryeburg, they tried to gain control of the entire water supply of the town. They bleed towns dry with litigation and fees waiting for the town to run out of money so they can have their way with everything. They will not be contributing to the added costs of maintenance on the highways. They will not just propose to stop at Oxbow Springs with so many natural springs within a 50 mile radius to try to exploit.

I am asking you to take action today on an urgent issue: a permitting process that would allow Nestlé to bottle water from the Oxbow Springs in Cascade Locks. This is especially timely because ODFW is about to enter into legal proceedings on a water forfeiture claim related to this issue. Once ODFW enters into these legal proceedings, it will initiate an unnecessary financial burden for the agency. Last week, I watched a speech by the CEO of Nestle. He said that safe drinking water should be treated as a food and sold to those who could afford to purchase it. Dear ODFW Commissioners -

Nestlé is a multinational corporation, just like Monsanto. Their focus is on "profit at all costs" and no matter what they say when they are at the door, they ALWAYS change the program, hide it from consumers and are truly NOT what Oregon needs; EVER!

Nestlé profits from the slave trade of children in Africa to get chocolate from the cocoa pods grown there. They have been confronted with actual footage of their immoral & unethical practices and deny it's truth or refuse to even meet with anyone who asks honest and difficult questions about their business practices.

With all that Oregonians are dealing with, WE WILL find a way through this difficult time economically and come out the other side better for it; it is the way Oregonians roll.

The damage that will be done to the Gorge will never be worth whatever promises of "benefit to Oregon" they make.

WE need to support small businesses here in Oregon, Organic farming, honest & hardworking Oregonians over ANY/ALL multinational corporations with such dangerous, dismal and deceitful histories as Nestlé has.

Dear ODFW Commissioners -

I am asking you to take action today on an urgent issue. I am hoping you will take a stand to protect one or Oregon's Ecosystems and on a bigger level, to make a stand in slowing down global warming. If Nestle' is allowed to bottle water from the Oxbow Springs in Cascade Locks, that bottled water will take from the local ecosystem. This will affect water supply, vegetation and habitat and the smallest to the biggest organism within the area. It would probably be best not to bottle the water. If the water was to be bottled (which I do not like this idea), it would be better to finance a local company to bottle the water so the region benefits. ODFW is about to enter into legal proceedings on a water forfeiture claim related to this issue. Once ODFW enters into these legal proceedings, it will initiate an unnecessary financial burden for the agency. I do not believe that taxpayer dollars should be spent to facilitate a proposal that would give away public water and could ultimately put the water supply for ODFW's Oxbow Hatchery at risk and disturb the stream and ground moisture.

Dear ODFW Commissioners -

Below is the boilerplate, but as a concerned citizen I'd like to let you all know that I'm more committed to seeing Nestlé go away than just forwarding someone else's words. As a residential and commercial property developer that is still in business, my main concern over this water bottling plant is that it is not a known sure thing, and if the deal fails the Oregon citizens are the ones who will be hurt possibly severely. Sure, if everything goes exactly as planned, this plant could be a benefit to Cascade Locks and ODFW. But does anyone know for sure that this deal will go as planned? Reviewing history, does any development deal go exactly as planned, especially one with so many unknowns? In my opinion, the hope that this deal will work is not worth the consequences of it not going as planned especially after all my reading including the insight brought by Miss Swier and the reasoning why the town of McCloud, California does not already have this plant.

Dear Commissioner and staff,

I am absolutely opposed to allowing Nestle to bottle public water for private profit, for many reasons.

Any potential public/social gains made via employment and increased revenue from taxes will be consumed by public costs to repair environmental damages created in the construction process. The last thing the Cascade Locks need is another construction/industrial site. Even the Sierra Club can't build a plant without negative environmental impacts, so imagine what Nestle will do, based upon what they have done. There is no gain to Oregon or Oregonians with this proposal. Nestle, on the other hand, could make a killing, by potentially killing our state's Oxbow hatchery!!

Stop the Water Exchange Application T-11109. Please explain to Director Elicker that this a a penny wise, pound foolish use of Oregon's natural resources and taxpayer dollars.

I am writing to oppose the plan to transfer Oregon state-owned (publicly-owned) water from a spring & creek which is currently supporting a salmon hatchery to the Nestle Corporation, so that they can use it as commercial product in plastic bottles.

I do not believe the municipal water of the City of Cascade Locks will adequately support the hatchery- indeed, the first attempt to do so resulted in a fish die-off due to chlorination in the city water & also the fact that that water is warmer than is the creek/spring water. And I'm also opposed to our state using its resources to support an industry which is, in and of itself, environmentally unsustainable (by this I mean the mass production of single-use plastic bottles, which, despite efforts at recycling, are contributing mightily to non-biodegradable waste on or land and in the oceans). And I also think bottled water is a ripoff for the typical consumer- here in the Portland area our tap water is at least as good, for human consumption, as is bottled water and it's a heck of a lot cheaper.

There must be better ways to keep Cascade Locks prosperous than this! Please revoke all permits granted on this water transfer.

I agree with the work that BARK has been doing and am a donating member. Please do not sell our water to Nestle. In Michigan, Nestle's ethics drained the goodwill of the local communities just like Nestle drained their well water. It's hard to think of Lake Michigan being hurt by Nestle, but it was. This is especially timely because ODFW is about to enter into legal proceedings on a water forfeiture claim related to this issue. Once ODFW enters into these legal proceedings, it will initiate an unnecessary financial burden for the agency. I do not believe that taxpayer dollars should be spent to facilitate a proposal that would give away public water and could ultimately put the water supply for ODFW's Oxbow Hatchery at risk.

Now is the perfect time for the ODFW to take the sensible route and pull Water Exchange Application T-11109. As an appointed Commissioner of the ODFW, you can help Director Elicker make the decision to pull this permit before costly legal proceedings begin. Please contact Director Elicker and tell him it is in the best interest of the Oxbow Hatchery and ODFW to pull T-11109 today.

Dear ODFW Commissioners -

The whole idea of bottled water is INSANE! Anyone with half a brain who needs some portable, potable water just puts water from the house into a thermos or a rinsed out pop bottle.

Now, encouraging and subsidizing bottled water is clearly NOT among the government's powers and responsibilities.

So...

I am asking you to take action today on an urgent issue: a permitting process that would allow Nestlé to bottle water from the Oxbow Springs in Cascade Locks. Hello ODFW Commissioners,

I studied Nestle water antics in Michigan a couple of years ago. It took a hydrogeologist a bit of time to prove that when Nestle says they've done an impact study, they conveniently insert a '0' in a formula and call it a day. This organization deserves real scrutiny, and I would not trust them with a permit. Please keep Nestle ownership claims out of Oregon. Dear ODFW Commissioners -

There is a form letter enclosed below, but i wanted to personalize it. Nestle has made it known that they are ideologically opposed to public water, which is a basic necessity for life. they believe that if anything can be commodified, it should be, and that all people should have to pay just to survive. this stance is fundamentally and morally wrong, and the idea that there are basic human rights and public resources that we all share is a founding principle of our society. If there is such a demand for bottled water from our beautiful springs, why shouldn't the local community bottle it themselves and sell it for a public benefit, rather than letting nestle profit from our shared resources and drain both the money and the water out of our local community? PLEASE PULL NESTLE'S PERMIT.

I am asking you to take action today on an urgent issue: a permitting process that would allow Nestlé to bottle water from the Oxbow Springs in Cascade Locks. To: ODFW Commission
Subject: My concerns about water

To the Commission:

Please stop the water transfer that would allow Nestle's to bottle our water. This plan is risky, with NO benefit to Oregon communities and the environment. This plan could cause serious environmental impact on our Columbia River Gorge. Our state is above this type of plan! The state needs to protect our precious water resources, for Oregonians. Multinational corporations like Nestle's do NOT need our help. They make huge profits without our help!!

I personally do not trust this company because of its unethical practices in other countries. This corporation puts profit above the World Health Organization's code of ethics for breastmilk substitutes. Nestle's products have been boycotted by women around the world, every day--up to today, as I type this letter. Our Fish and Wildlife Department should NOT be working with a company of this repute. This is nothing short of a water grab by a huge profiteering corporation.

I am also concerned with our environment and the impact of bottled water on our environment. We need to re-evaluate single use bottles and what they are doing to the earth. Humans did not need plastic bottles of water for all the centuries leading up to now. Why do we need them now? For someone to make a huge profit off our public resources?

Please stop the water transfer that would allow this corporation to take our water for profit making purposes.

Thank you for considering my views.

Dear Commissioners,

Bark and Food & Water Watch recently mailed a letter to the ODFW commission requesting meetings with each commissioner regarding the water transfers associated with the Nestle water bottling facility proposal for Oregon. I have pasted the content of the letter at the bottom of this message and attached it as well. At the meeting(s) we would like to further outline the major risks associated with the proposal, including a potential for ODFW to loose a significant portion of its water right at Oxbow Hatchery. In addition to a meeting, we request that upon reviewing the facts that each of you advise ODFW Director Roy Elicker to pull out of the water exchange application (T-11109) to avoid a long expensive legal battle that could likely lead to a large water forfeiture.

Please review the letter and get in touch with Meredith Cocks (meredith@bark-out.org), from Bark, or with me (jdegrow@fwwatch.org) to set up a time to meet either in person or over the phone. Dear Commissioner,

I am writing on behalf of the Keep Nestlé Out of the Gorge Coalition with the intent of filling you in on some of the facts about the current status of an ODFW water transfer application that would facilitate a Nestlé bottling plant using water from the ODFW Hatchery at Oxbow Spring.

In October we sent you a letter outlining the basic process involved in the exchange as well as other information about the issue. Since that time we have learned new information that significantly alters the viability of the proposal, and suggests that this process is not in the best interest of the ODFW's Oxbow Hatchery. The stated reason why ODFW is involved in this exchange is to secure a more steady supply of water for its hatchery, however this new information has created a situation where the opposite may occur—ODFW is now at risk of losing a large portion of its water right at Oxbow Spring. We would appreciate an in person meeting regarding the top two issues of the water exchange outlined below. We ask that you advise Roy Elicker to start settlement proceedings with Food & Water Watch and Bark because the risks of the water exchange proposal far outweigh the benefits.

Possible Water Forfeiture of Oxbow Hatchery Water Right:

- The current legal challenges by Food & Water Watch and Bark put a significant portion of ODFW's water rights at Oxbow Spring at risk of forfeiture. Proceedings have already begun towards a contested case hearing (scheduled for the week of August 12th) on a water forfeiture claim in which ODFW will be forced to defend its water right by proving it is using the full amount of 10 cfs as is listed.
- If the agency is unable to prove this, then the hatchery will lose part of its water right. To date it appears that ODFW cannot prove use beyond 8 cfs and is likely to forfeit at least a portion of its right.
- This forfeiture contested case hearing is just the first in a series of three hearings that are projected to extend well into 2015 at great expense to ODFW.

Cascade Locks Cannot Give ODFW Water:

As you may know, the proposal for Nestlé involves a bucket for bucket water exchange between Cascade Locks' municipal well water with water from Oxbow Spring, which is currently being utilized by the ODFW at the Oxbow Hatchery. This would allow for the spring water that Nestlé buys from the town to be replaced by Cascade Locks' well water.

- However, a recent water study done by Tenneson Engineering Corp. on the City of Cascade Locks' water infrastructure suggests major problems for this proposal.
- Current infrastructure, including the pumps on each of the city's wells, has insufficient capacity to support a new industrial user. This means the city would need to complete costly upgrades to its infrastructure in order to fulfill its end of the bargain with ODFW and supply the hatchery with water to replace that bottled by Nestlé.

Clearly, this raises questions about the viability of this proposal and whether or not the hatchery would be able to receive replacement water. Without this additional reliable water source and the possibility of a diminished water supply if this proposal were to move forward as planned, we further question why ODFW thinks involvement in this water exchange process is in line with its mission, to protect and enhance Oregon's fish and wildlife and their habitats for use and enjoyment by present and future generations.

We have continually asked for Roy Elicker and ODFW to pull the water exchange application T-11109 that would allow this proposal to move forward. The facts as we understand them are different now than they were a year ago and are different from the understanding ODFW had at the time it applied for the water exchange. At this point in time it seems clear: a water exchange to allow for a Nestlé bottling plant is not in the best interest of ODFW, the hatchery, or the local ecosystem, but we believe that we can reach an agreement that will reflect our shared values.

To further outline the water forfeiture contested case hearing and the state of Cascade Locks' water system we request a meeting with you either in person or over the phone. We are also willing to meet with the full Commission after your meeting in Eugene on August 2nd 2013.

Thanks, and we look forward to talking with you.

This means the city would need to complete costly upgrades to its infrastructure in order to fulfill its end of the bargain with ODFW and supply the hatchery with water to replace that bottled by Nestlé.

Clearly, this raises questions about the viability of this proposal and whether or not the hatchery would be able to receive replacement water. Without this additional reliable water source and the possibility of a diminished water supply if this proposal were to move forward as planned, we further question why ODFW thinks involvement in this water exchange process is in line with its mission, to protect and enhance Oregon's fish and wildlife and their habitats for use and enjoyment by present and future generations.

We have continually asked for Roy Elicker and ODFW to pull the water exchange application T-11109 that would allow this proposal to move forward. The facts as we understand them are different now than they were a year ago and are different from the understanding ODFW had at the time it applied for the water exchange. At this point in time it seems clear: a water exchange to allow for a Nestlé bottling plant is not in the best interest of ODFW, the hatchery, or the local ecosystem, but we believe that we can reach an agreement that will reflect our shared values.

To further outline the water forfeiture contested case hearing and the state of Cascade Locks' water system we request a meeting with you either in person or over the phone. We are also willing to meet with the full Commission after your meeting in Eugene on August 2nd 2013.

Thanks, and we look forward to talking with you.

Sincerely,

Subject: Make the sensible choice! Pull the Nestlé permit today.

Dear ODFW Commissioners -

My family has lived in NE Portland for generations, and the Columbia River Gorge is, to us, one of the most magnificent landscapes on Earth. We never take it for granted. Now I'm asking you to do the same. I don't want the cold clean water of the Columbia River Gorge being bottled to line the pockets of rich multinational corporations! I want it flowing into the Columbia River where Oregonians and all the life we share the river with can benefit from it. I strongly urge you to not waste taxpayer money studying this misguided proposal. Rather use our money for restoration and habitat protection within the beautiful Columbia River Gorge.

I am asking you to take action today on an urgent issue: a permitting process that would allow Nestlé to bottle water from the Oxbow Springs in Cascade Locks. This is especially timely because ODFW is about to enter into legal proceedings on a water forfeiture claim related to this issue. Once ODFW enters into these legal proceedings, it will initiate an unnecessary financial burden for the agency. I do not believe that taxpayer dollars should be spent to facilitate a proposal that would give away public water and could ultimately put the water supply for ODFW's Oxbow Hatchery at risk.

Now is the perfect time for the ODFW to take the sensible route and pull Water Exchange Application T-11109. As an appointed Commissioner of the ODFW, you can help Director Elicker make the decision to pull this permit before costly legal proceedings begin. Please contact Director Elicker and tell him it is in the best interest of the Oxbow Hatchery and ODFW to pull T-11109 today.

Thank you,

Dear Oregon Fish and Wildlife Commission:

Elizabeth Warren recently wrote, regarding the TransPacific Partnership and TAFTA, "And Nestle will have an easier time cornering the world market on water as a saleable commodity rather than something most people of conscience recognize as a basic right. (What will be next, air?)"

Jane Anne Morris wrote, "The corporate elite will not suffer as much as the rest of us when the local economy tanks, or thirst equally when the aquifer is emptied; under 'free trade,' they stand to make huge profits by selling us our own water."

page 9, Gaveling Down the Rabble, How "Free Trade" is Stealing Our Democracy, by Jane Anne Morris, © 2008.

Nestle CEO Peter Brabeck has said, "So one opinion, which I think is extreme, is as a human being, you should have a right to water. That's an extreme solution."

See:

I urge you to reject the plan for a water swap that will enable Nestle to gain a foothold in Cascade Locks, Oregon, and begin taking over our precious water resources. This must be nipped in the but and now is the time to do it.

Sincerely,

Jeff Stookey

RE: Please pull/retract Water Exchange Application T-11109

Dear Mr. Elicker:

We are Oregon citizens and taxpayers and have been following the Nestle-Cascade Locks bottling plant proposal since the summer of 2009. We have educated ourselves about this proposal as best we can. Hugh wrote to the Water Resources Department in September of 2010 and asked them to not approve T-11109 on the grounds that there was no real, local beneficial use.

Now, your agency may find itself involved in legal proceedings for something done solely for the benefit of Nestles and not for the benefit of the citizens of Oregon, nor the ODFW, nor, in our opinion, for the City of Cascade Locks. Coming right to the point, we are asking you to do the right thing for all Oregonians and the future of our water by not setting a dangerous precedent: Please pull/retract Water Exchange Application T-11109! Legal proceedings will cause an unnecessary financial burden for your agency. Further, we do not believe taxpayer dollars should be spent to facilitate a proposal that would give away public water and one that could – given Nestles actions in probably a dozen other locations - ultimately put the water supply for your Oxbow Hatchery at risk.

Thank you,

Hugh and Linda McMahan
